

If we are made “in God’s image,” to what extent are our minds like His?

We can conceive of unanswerable questions, like how God occupied his time before the creation, but we can never know what we cannot conceive.