

The Declaration of Dependence

Often whenever a politician declares his desire to “help the people,” he has something else in mind.