

Alien Composers

On distant planets, with sentient intelligent species, are there composers who delight in creating fugues and atonal music? Do they have orchestras and concert halls? Has their civilization exhausted its musical ideas so that no more interesting music can be composed but only creative ways of building more traditional music?

?