

What can I say?

I'm really a piece of work. My resiliency and ability to survive are off the charts. I can thrive anywhere. I move quickly and strategically, especially in lighted places. Inside, I'm a pharmacy of antibiotic molecules. Outside, well, what can I say? All considered, a paragon of the corruptible world.