

“There must have been, is, or will be a peanut butter and jelly sandwich the sheer perfection of which can only be described as virtually indistinguishable from the idealized one inhabiting Plato’s world of forms. A new quest!”

– Ishmael