

Twitterpative Grammar

In a famous Walt Disney movie, two fawns, Bambi and Faline, have this thing called “twitterpation.” It seems appropriate to consider that most romantic of ideas.

NOUN

Twitterpation makes the world go ‘round.

VERB

I twitterpate you.

ADJECTIVE

I have twitterpative feelings for you.

ADVERB

I twitterpatively pine for you.

INTERJECTION

twitterpate!

GERUND

To the one you care for, it’s all about twitterpating.

PRESENT PARTICIPLE

My twitterpating feelings for you are strong.

PAST PARTICIPLE FUTURE-PERFECT TENSE PASSIVE VOICE

I will have become twitterpated by you by the end of this dance.

