

Boring Adversaries

I wonder how many people are tired of movies built around the threat of a vampire or of zombies. The only way these movies become interesting now is to parody them.

