

Immortality?

How often and in what situations have you had your picture taken simply because you just happen to be in the shot. Right now, some family may be looking through a photo album taken on a vacation. They would probably not notice you, of course, unless your appearance was in some way unusual, but there you are! Immortality assured?