

Many creative artists focus on the darker aspects of life, maybe in part to be edgy and appear "intellectual."

The positive aspects of life, however, can be equally profound.