

Are the odds non-zero that at this very moment, someone you know, have met, or knows about you are, however fleetingly, thinking of you?

Would their thoughts be positive, negative, or mixed?

Ten years after you die, will the odds still be non-zero. Fifty years?