

For about 250 years, Americans have enjoyed relative freedom and peace. Since these are mutually incompatible, human nature being what it is, this is a miracle of history.