

In Congressional hearings, a witness who gives a long answer to a simple question is probably lying or at least equivocating.