

IDEATIONAL LAW?

Freedom is inversely related to both equality and safety. Is there a physical universe where this reality is not true? Crime statistics must be really low.

I guess up and down going in the same direction would be completely out the question. There must be laws about this sort of thing, mustn't there?