

“I make those little strips of paper inside fortune cookies.”

How many psychologically precocious children, in all seriousness, have ever dreamt of this career?