

Gordian Knot

Can a patient succession of decisions unravel any complexity, or is life's web of social and political relationships inherently intractable?