

Malignancies

If you think biological cells have survival instincts, think again. Cancer cells are suicidally malignant because they eventually destroy the biological host keeping them alive. Similarly, bureaucrats and their government organizations eventually destroy human freedom and the human spirit.

What's a good euphemism?