

It's not death that
really scares us;
it's fear of dying.

How's this different
from fear of living?