

FREE SPEECH

An illustration of a person in a dark suit and red tie speaking at a wooden podium. The person is gesturing with their right hand. Above the person's head is a large red speech bubble with four white dots inside. To the left of the person are several light blue gears of different sizes. The background is a light blue circle with some faint decorative elements like a small orange 'x' and a small blue circle.

It was not designed to protect the best
communicated;
it was designed to protect the worst.