

Sentient Robots

Assume technological advances enable human beings not only to create robots but sentient ones. They would know fallible humans are their creators.

What would their beliefs about God's existence and conceptions about God's nature be?