

WHY EVIL?

AFTER THE GARDEN

I give you your life energy. Without me, you would have nothing to contend with. You would have no challenge and no need to strive. You would have no delights, elations, or triumphs. You would have no ability to do good or experience the joy of meaningful success.

My final gift: I give you fear of dying. Everything you do to deny this fear and everything you do to overcome it is what gives significance to your existence and to your life.

ALL THIS MUST BE SO
