

It's important to work hard so you can have what you want in your life. Sometimes though, things may not work out way you plan. Maybe it's more important to learn how to want what you have.