

Because both clarity and forcefulness are expressed by active verbs, they are liked by good writers and are most often used by them. Moreover, when experiencing good writers who use active verbs, excitement is had by me. Passive verbs should not be used by anyone.