

FIGHTING POLITICAL GRAVITY

According to historian Victor Davis Hanson, tribalism is the "default state" of humanity. What the American revolution has done, though, is provide humanity with the unifying principles of constitutional limited government. Still, gravity's omnipresence threatens to pull us back to pre-civilization.

