

Voters

The American electorate's general disinterest and ignorance is virtually impossible to overestimate. This reality is remarkably ironic considering what it is disinterested in or naive about, the FREEDOM which our founding principles have blessed us with.