

MUSIC

Music is the interplay of tonal objects (notes, motive, melody) in terms of timbre, pitch and pitch relationships (key), duration and silences, amplitude, and rhythm.

Its interplay is infinitely variable. Its objective is to please a listener, directly or ironically (syncopation, the grotesque). Sometimes its appeal requires educated listeners.