

Politicians

Some things in life we don't like. We have to have them because we need government. Don't ever trust them though, especially the one's who appear likable. Vote for the candidate who most aligns with your beliefs and values and whom you distrust the least.