

Quid Pro Quo

We like to believe the best-qualified person gets the job. Unfortunately, this is not usually the case. A family member or friend, especially one owed a favor, usually gets it. This reality ultimately explains why socialism and capitalism have not ever appeared in their pure forms and why they never will.