

Adornments

They're intended to enhance our normal physical state and appearance, yet many believe less is more. Too much lipstick. Too many tats. Too much bling. But if less really is more, why wouldn't nothing be most. Maybe we shouldn't enhance anything?

What about deodorant?