

Star Dirt

The Hollywood starlette poses before adoring fans and press photographers. She changes position, giving the chance for viewers to see another aspect, a different view of the gown, the hair, the face.

Is she enjoying this worship? If so, how much damage is it doing to her psyche? How warped a self-perception? If she is bored, what could possibly still excite and thrill her that is not sub-human or depraved?