

The American Voter and Career Politicians

In a democracy, you'd think that office holders would eventually get bored by the brain dead zombies who vote for them. After all, when you manipulate emotions with highly charged imagery and when you manipulate minds with deceit and disinformation, you're not likely to enjoy the satisfaction of knowing your supporters, aside from their votes, are significant in any meaningful way.

So why so many career politicians?

They get off on the power, dumbass!