

The Eastern philosophers have it right. Tension between opposites, in the physical and social and psychological and spiritual worlds, is the only absolute. All else is relative.