

Absolute Plagiarism?

Text is added to the Internet daily. Eventually we will reach the point when virtually no composed phrase, clause, or sentence will be sufficiently different from any text already online. Any originality a composition has will be relative only.

How will copyright law
be affected?