

FRIENDSHIP

Most would feel it's great to be popular, human nature being what it is. Family aside though, it's probably better to live your life surrounded by a limited number of close and loyal friends.