

Trying to generally fix officiating in basketball is like trying to legislate about gravity or dust. They are part of the nature of things just like officials' judgment is in the nature of the game.