

If the multiverse theory is true, and if an infinite number of universes therefore exists, would not at least one of these universes operate by different a priori truths?

Some examples.

$$2 + 2 = 5$$

The Epimenides Paradox is easily resolved