

The foulness of fecal odor is not an inherent quality; many people enjoy the smell of Limburger cheese, and both odors are composed in part by the same bacteria. How good or bad a thing smells is not only a matter of its survival value but also of psychology, culture, and learning.

Do dung beetles like cheese?

